Universiti Malaya has been accredited as a Dental Education Centre by the Faculty of Dental Surgery (FDS) of the Royal College of Surgeons of England (RCS England), marking a historic milestone in global dental education..

Universiti Malaya has received a historic accreditation from the Faculty of Dental Surgery, part of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, marking the first time such recognition has been awarded anywhere in the world. The accreditation confirms that its dental specialty doctoral programmes meet rigorous international academic and clinical standards and was formally presented at a Diplomate Ceremony in London attended by senior representatives from both institutions. Covering eight doctoral programmes across key dental specialties, the recognition highlights the university's commitment to excellence in education, research, and clinical training. It also strengthens educational ties between the UK and Malaysia while reinforcing Universiti Malaya's position as a leading institution in dental education. Additionally, two faculty members were awarded Fellowships in Dental Surgery for their significant contributions to postgraduate dental education and academic development.
